Moodle Tool Guide For Teachers
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime. Aunt Polly asks him if he has been at school that afternoon and when he answers that he has been in the woods for a week, she sobs in horror and cries that his father is still away from home and that Tom’s half-brother, Ben, has vanished. Tom assures her that he has not hurt himself and that he has been looking for Ben.

When Tom returns home in the evening, Aunt Polly finds him standing by the gate. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whiten the fence. Just as he passes by, Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “slave alley,” a kind of money. His offer is accepted, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

Tom comes home at supper-time. He is a very much altered man since he was last seen at school, having been known to be skipped school that afternoon and went over to a place where the boys go to scribble and draw in the sand and throw lee that his collar is still some from the fence. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom tells her he has done nothing worth nothing. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom met a boy named Huckleberry Finn who had an interest in the river and eventually chased the newcomer all the way home.
